1. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

2. Claim 16 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Satran (WO 00/02693), who shows a cutting tool in figure 6a that has all of the recited limitations including two spaced apart abutments as seen in figure 6b.

3. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

4. Claims 1-16 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Satran (WO 00/02693).

Satran shows in figure 6a a cutting tool have most of the recited limitations including the radially extending pocket rear. Figure 6b shows the two-point support of the insert and the pocket rear. Figure 4 shows that the insert is thicker in the middle. Figure 3 shows the outward cutting edges (30) extending inwardly, and the middle cutting edge (32) being arcuate.

Satran's insert has cutting edges on only two sides, as opposed to all four. However, Examiner takes Official Notice that it is common for inserts to have cutting edges on all four sides. An example of such can be seen in Satran (5,718,540).

Art Unit: 3724

Dozens of other patents also have this teaching. It would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art to have modified Satran by having cutting edges on all four corners, as is well known, in order to have two additional cutting edges to shift to, thus reducing costs by doubling the life of the insert.

5. Applicant's arguments with respect to the claims have been considered but are moot in view of the new ground(s) of rejection.

6. Any inquiry concerning this communication or earlier communications from the examiner should be directed to Ken Peterson whose telephone number is 703-308-2186. The examiner can normally be reached on Monday thru Thursday between 7am and 4pm.
